STEP BY STEP
TO A TOP-CLASS
SURFACE FINISH

Step 1:
Brass base

Step 2:
Nickel coating

Step 3:
Chrome finish

QUALITY BEGINS WITH HIGH-GRADE MATERIALS

A high-quality chrome finish lends Villeroy & Boch tap fittings a perfect lustre.

- Our tap fittings boast a very special surface lustre. This results from a sophisticated polishing process prior to the actual chrome coating.
- The chrome is applied evenly in a special electrolytic process.
- After chroming, a transparent, hardened coating is applied to the surface. This is crucial to ensuring the special lustre.
- We verify our tap fittings' resistance to corrosion in a 200-hour salt spray test. This ensures uniformly smooth and brilliant surfaces.
- It goes without saying that we have minimised the lead content in all tap fittings. We additionally verify the lead levels by means of subsequent spectral analysis in the laboratory.

HIGH-QUALITY COMPONENTS — MORE THAN THE SUM OF ITS PARTS

Villeroy&Boch tap fittings last more than 7 times longer than the European Norms standard requires. They continue to work even after endurance tests comprising 500,000 cycles.

Neoperl perlator

Our high-quality perlators are produced by the market leader in Switzerland and are certified in accordance with DIN EN 246.

Limited flow rate

Water-saving with a maximum flow rate of 5l/min. This cuts costs and benefits the environment.

Hoses

All plastics meet the strict EU standards. The hoses are fully suitable for use without any reservations. They are microbiologically pure, tasteless and comply with all relevant drinking water hygiene regulations.

Limescale control

The smart anti-limescale function ensures that the perlator is easy to clean and continues to work perfectly even after many years of use.

Ceramic cartridges

We use only state-of-the-art cartridges from the market leader — Made in Europe.

SUPREMELY INSTALLATION- FRIENDLY

Flexible hoses

The high-quality hoses provide for swift and simple installation.

All hoses are made in Europe.

Perfect matches

All tap fittings undergo comprehensive testing with the Villeroy & Boch washbasins. Our recommended tap fitting / washbasin combinations make choosing the appropriate products particularly easy.

One for all

The ViBox makes particularly easy work of installing tap fittings:

- Colour-coded connections for hot and cold water ensure correct connection.
- Arrows on the rear of the ViBox indicate the direction of installation.
- The enclosed brass stopper serves to close off unrequired connections.
- Including rubber cuff to seal the ViBox.
- Decoupled from the system to eliminate noise transmission.

CONTINUAL VALIDATION: OUR TAP FITTINGS STAY THE COURSE

Brilliant finish

The chrome-coated surface of each individual tap fitting is examined and tested according to 13 special quality criteria.

500,000 cycles and counting

Our tap fittings are particularly robust and reliable. It is not by chance that they withstand stress tests covering 500,000 cycles. This is 7 times more than required by the industrial and regulatory standards (70,000 cycles).

Handling the pressure

Each individual tap fitting undergoes leak testing at a maximum of 25 bar before it is packed and dispatched. In contrast, the average water pressure in a German single-family home is around 3 bar.

Three-fold validation

1st validation:

More than 24 design tests at our base in Mettlach.

2nd validation:

Testing of first off-tool parts according to 16 criteria by our quality management in Mettlach.

3rd validation:

Final release for series production by the product development team and quality management. In order to ensure the high standard of quality, we subject each batch to spectral analysis and carry out on going sampling tests at the warehouses.
